KANSAS CITY DAYLILY GARDEN

Kansas City 10, Missouri

RAIN, RAIN, GO AWAY—

Yes folks, last year we were wishing for rains, but our garden did not suffer due to the fact that we irrigated, as we are just in the city and had ample water for that purpose. This spring we not only had an unusually warm February but continuing mild, and as to rains we are really getting them. Our plants sure are showing the effects of the rains too, as they are sure husky looking fellows in most cases, and all will be very fine by the time you receive this catalog. Yes, folks, we sure have husky plants just itching to be growing in your garden. Hurry your orders.

IMPORTANT NOTICE ON KRAUS VARIETIES

Dr. E. J. Kraus Daylilies are not listed this season due to the heavy demand we had on these varieties last year. We have a nice stock, perhaps nicer than most other growers, but dare not offer them this year due to the fact that they sell out so fast, and they would not last the season through. We have perhaps 50 varieties of his. Some growers are listing some of his, and we advise anyone who has a chance to obtain any, get them while you can this year. I doubt if there will be many available next season. They are even scarce with the introducer.

YES FOLKS—WE TRY TO PLEASE

I got some Daylilies from you last fall, they have bloomed and are lovely. Thanks so much for such nice plants. WASHINGTON

Received my Daylilies today, this was my first order and I sure was pleased with them. They were such lovely plants and arrived in very good condition. MICHIGAN

I received the Daylilies which were the nicest ones I have ever ordered. MASSACHUSETTS

The Daylilies you sent me arrived in excellent condition. We live in a hot valley so I separated the plants and put them in a damp place under a tree. They are growing already. CALIFORNIA

Thank you very much for the nice plants and an extra thanks for the bonus lily. MICHIGAN

My Siberian Iris arrived in fine condition, lovely plants and such generous divisions. Is my first order from you and I'm very much pleased with your plants. NEBRASKA

Received my Daylily order and am very pleased with it, also more than pleased with the extra. They arrived in wonderful condition. NEBRASKA

I received my order of Daylilies yesterday, the plants arrived in fine condition. Thank you for the extra ones. NORTH CAROLINA

My order has been received and I thank you. I have always received nicer plants from you than from any other nursery I've ever ordered from. GEORGIA

I received the shipment of Daylilies on Saturday and was very pleased with the quality of the plants and also for the extra included with the order. I did not think my small order should rate such a fine extra, but I sure want you to know that it was much appreciated. Your firm is one of the most generous that I have dealt with for quite some time. KANSAS

My order of 12 Hemerocallis came in excellent condition. I am well pleased with the size of the plants and your prompt service. GEORGIA

The Hems arrived in beautiful condition. Plant were more satisfactory than I had expected. You have made a steady customer. ILLINOIS

I just received a shipment of plants from you which arrived in excellent condition. They were the nicest plants I have ever been lucky enough to receive from any source. OKLAHOMA

NEW INTRODUCTIONS

BOLD SURPRISE (Ryder) A gorgeous creation, a ruffled edged 5-6 inch Mikado patterned Daylily. The coloring is more contrasty, zone is darker and petals more artistically patterned. A good bloomer, and nice increaser. This variety is another one to help fill in the gap of those scarce eyed varieties. Height about 3½ feet, and blooms about July. 10.00 Net.

ETHEL MAY (Ryder) Cute 15-18 inch medium size yellow. Nice for front of border. Blooms about June-July. No reservations or orders accepted until 1955.

SHIPMENTS BEGIN IMMEDIATELY and continue until November 1st. We shall ship as soon as possible after receiving your order, unless you wish us to ship at a later date. We also ship in spring, 1955 from this catalogue.

If you are not completely satisfied with your order, just return it and we shall immediately refund purchase price cheerfully.

We guarantee good healthy stock, true to name, and in good growing condition when received by you. We cannot be responsible for the growth in your garden due to conditions beyond our control.

PLEASE DO NOT SEND STAMPS OR CASH

WE DO NOT WHOLESALE

We acknowledge all orders promptly.

Please name a few substitutes, with the understanding that we positively will not substitute unless we have to. In the event that you do not indicate substitutes we shall immediately refund purchase price of the plants on which we may have sold out.

Our heaviest blooming season is from June 15th until August 1st. Do drop in and visit us when in Kansas City, as you are always welcome. Someone is always here.

We have 500 other varieties which are not listed in this catalog, and will quote you prices on any certain varieties which you might be interested in.

Join your Hemerocallis Society. Their beautiful yearbook, quarterlies, the loan library and slide collections are so well worth the annual dues of $3.00. Send your dues to Daisy L. Ferrick, 416 Arter Ave., Topeka, Kansas.

Send 10c to Dr. Philip Corliss, Box 68, Somerton, Ariz., for his new list of more than 125 rental sets of beautiful 35MM color slides. Autographed copies of the first edition of his "Hemerocallis, The Perennial Supreme" are still available at $10 per copy.

THE TRUTH ABOUT DAYLILIES AND IMPORTANT CULTURAL DIRECTIONS

If you are a flower grower and want an abundance of blooms, if you want a perennial that is very hardy, and needs very little care, choose the Daylily. Daylilies do not require spraying for insects or diseases. They don't require digging or storing for winter. Winter protection is not necessary.

It is important that Daylilies be planted as early as possible in the season so that they can become established before winter. In some sections of the country, especially where heaving and thawing is a problem, many shallow rooted plants are heaved out of the earth and the crowns frozen and killed. This is because they do not have deep enough roots to anchor them in. The Daylily if planted too late may not be able to grow enough roots to anchor them, and in this event they might also heave. If Daylilies are planted within 2 months of your frost date it is advisable as an extra precaution to mulch with some hay, excelsior, or other loose material. After the first winter this will not be necessary, as the Daylilies will, by the second winter be well rooted and anchored in. We lose very few late divided plants here and yet we don't mulch, but mulching is good insurance the first winter.

Plant the crowns of the Daylilies, 1 inch below the surface, the crown is where the root joins the foliage.

Plant Daylilies where drainage is good, and any good garden soil is ok. Daylilies will grow in sandy or clay soil but is happier in a loamy type.

A cup of bonemeal with a shovelful of rotted manure or compost mixed in soil before planting is a good fertilizer for Daylilies.

Daylilies like lots of moisture when they are blooming, and will bloom better and make nicer clumps if given water when it is dry. As you know plants are composed mainly of water, But Daylilies are about as drought resistant as the cactus if water is not supplied, and in most all cases bloom and grow well without any additional watering. Do not judge a bloom or the number of blooms or scapes on a one year plant, even on a few 2 year clumps judgement should not be made as to the quality of the bloom or the abundance of blooms. The blooming habits, as to quantity vary with each variety, but all make a grand display from 2 to 3 years. Do not divide daylilies after 2, 3 or 4 years if they are blooming good, as they are usually at their best from 2 to 10 years in the same location. Dividing can be made when the plant becomes too crowded in its location and this will be evident by the scarcity of blooms and the tendency of the bloom to become smaller. Divide by washing the earth from the roots with a hose and cutting apart with a kitchen knife into 2 or 3 fan divisions. Spring or right after they bloom is a good time to divide. In most cases a light shifting shade as one finds in an open woodland is an ideal place to plant Daylilies, but they will bloom in half shade, but not quite so abundant, and bloom heaviest in full sun. A few varieties if placed in full sun will burn or wilt a little, especially the first two years, while some of the yellows will have a tendency to scorch if the sun is especially hot. So it would be wise to give some shade to your Daylilies until you will be able to judge their reaction to different locations. Placement will have to be determined by the grower.

Spacing Daylilies 3 feet will take care of future growth of plants, and in the first or second year other perennials or annuals may be used between these plants to fill the gap.

Descriptions are as close as we can make under the circumstances, as weather, soil, and location, (sun or shade) has a direct bearing as to their specific color in your garden. On cloudy days, reds are sometimes darker. Colors are truer on older clumps. Height indicated is a general average, as some scapes may be shorter, while others will be taller than indicated. You will also experience a truer height on a more established plant, (2 or more years old.)

Season of bloom will vary 2 or more weeks at certain locations, due to the difference in climate.
